

Minaxi is one of those typeface projects of mine that I haven't been able to finish yet. I began working on it around this time last year as a fun, personal project. However, because of academics and other commitments I just haven't been able to make time to work on it any further. The hairline (text) weight is the one that's completely done. It has been sitting on my computer for about 6 months now and because I'm not sure when I'll finish the rest, I thought I might as well share it.

It's suitable for setting type in large sizes and features 333 glyphs, including several ligatures. I named it after my mom.
